

IT Product Support Specialist (1st Level)

We are looking for young and motivated IT Product Support Specialists (1st Level). Requirements: IT apprenticeship or IT degree. The right candidates will possess good oral and written communication skills in German and English language and exhibit customer-friendly attitudes.

You will be trained on our output management software product suite and will then support our customers via phone, e-mail, and occasionally on-site (international). You will continuously get chances to expand your IT and personal skills.
